for Elizabeth's son. This clipping has however added a few details. Scholefield is wrong in one particular. The family tree went:

John Beauchamp

Henry Herron Arthur
Elizabeth Sir Harold
General von Arnim K.M.

Sir Harold was Elizabeth's first cousin and K.M. and the General were cousins. The authority is Sir Harold's own book.

'Thanks too for putting Maurice Hurst on to me. I have just finished an article for him on Katherine Mansfield in Fiction and have said a little about "Daughter of Time" which I liked very well as a portrait.'

Early in 1942 I was fortunate in securing what appeared to be a first edition of In a German Pension. I wrote to Morris, giving him a description of it and here is his reply:

'I am intrigued by the copy of the German Pension you have found. I do not think it can be a first edition if only because I paid £18-10s. sterling for mine. On the other hand the only editions other than the first are the 1926 Constable edition and the Knopf American—also 1926. Your find cannot be either of these. I don't know if you have a copy of the Bibliography, but in case you have not I will append a few facts for you to work on.

'The last page of the actual text is numbered 251 and on the back of that page there is just one line; THE RIVERSIDE PRESS LIMITED, EDINBURGH. After that should come 4 pages of ads. numbered 1 to 4 and then 32 pages of ads. numbered 1 to 32. These you say are missing. The dimensions are 8\frac{3}{4} in. x 4\frac{7}{8} in. Colour green with lettering in gold. The cover has an all-over design of arrows and books. The front cover has an oblong free from the design and lettered:

IN A GERMAN

PENSION Katherine Mansfield

The spine has IN A GERMAN PENSION Katherine Mansfield—then a design of two open books with a pair of crossed arrows between—STEPHEN SWIFT.
