

Wahine Toa/Maori Women in Maori myth

Robyn Kahukiwa

The artist, Robyn Kahukiwa is pictured with two of her works in the exhibition currently touring New Zealand galleries. The works in the exhibition are paintings, drawings and linocuttings and with a text by Patricia Grace will be published as a book by William Collins in October 1983. Robyn has drawn strongly on traditional myths for the detail in her work to get authenticity. The colours are bold and imagery striking. ▶

Howey Kipa

Mr Howey Kipa

Mr Howey H.M. Kipa, is Chief Engineer for the Sheraton Auckland international hotel.

Mr Kipa was formerly personnel and technical services manager for an Auckland manufacturer, a position he took up upon leaving the Navy in 1978.

A qualified marine engineer, Mr Kipa has seen sea and shore service as a commissioned officer with the Navy in many parts of the world.

Mr Kipa leads an operation team of 12, maintaining heat, light and power services, and the hotel's grounds and outside facilities.

Mr Kipa is married with six children, and resides in Glen Innes. He is interested in all forms of sport, and is a former private pilot.

