

3 M. T. MUTTERINGS

While raeing the loss of Pte. Ruth Morton from the Staff, we give a hearty welcome to Pte. June Nisson. A lovely addition we claim. Funny how one can generally locate S/W Foster in his Office now.

A quaint historical mix-up has occurred in so much as our Joan of Arc and our William the Conqueror have been on furlough at the same time.

On application, Cpl. Tom Jordan, 3 M.T. storeman, has a clean but fruity story to tell all and sundry about a P.R.

Pte. Fred Milden's attempt at gardening has taken on a sombre note in the shape of four gruesome graveyard plots.

Two more mysteries being solved by Barry's Bur ular Bureau viz. who cut the wives on the bar-room window, and who flagged the fish from the officers' "frig"?

N. Z. Pes ts. - Gorse, rabbits, ragwort, and now P. T. Inst- ructors. Listen in on their reucnus singing and dubious harmony in A Block showers at night. You'll catch on.

Wanted Urgently. - Sky hooks to hang a platform to the clouds so that M. T. officers headed South on furlough can try and thumb passing aircraft for a lift.

QUIZ.

1. Most of the Waacs wear a vivid red slash across their faces. Is the purpose of this (a) to repel suit- ors, (b) to confess lack of natural charm (c) to pro- tect from sunburn (d) to brand their otherwise willing victims, or (e) to conform to a hideous fashion?

2. The Camp Band no longer charms us from our beds at Reveille. Is the reason that (a) the siren is more musical, or (b) Reveille is at an incon- venient hour?

3. S/Sgt. Williams on, C Block is seldom seen without his note book. In this does he record (a) Tips from Tin Pan Alley, (b) memories of the Boer War, or (c) Tales of the North?
